

Le Premier Empereur de Chine et son armée secrète

De la quête de l'immortalité à la construction d'une tombe pour l'éternité

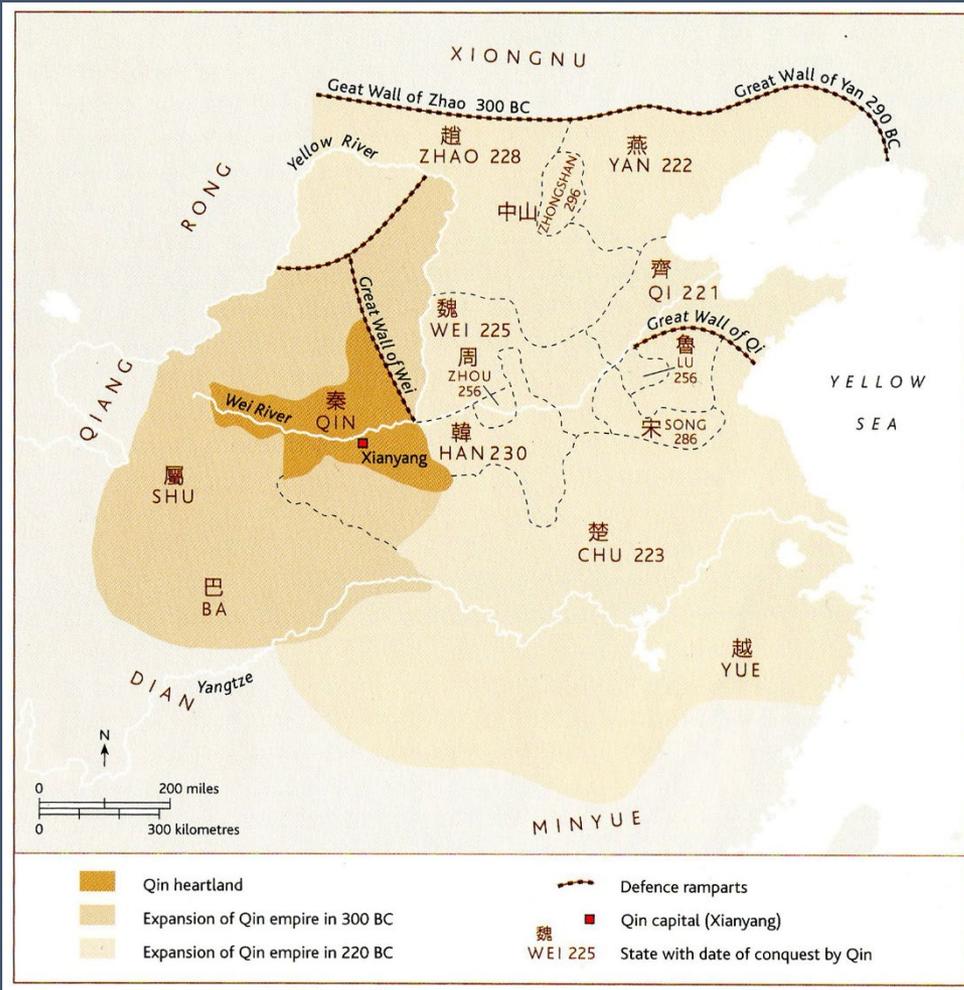

Carte des pays chinois au III^e siècle avant notre ère

- Cœur du territoire du royaume de Qin
- Expansion de Qin vers 300 av. J.-C.
- Expansion de Qin vers 220 av. J.-C.

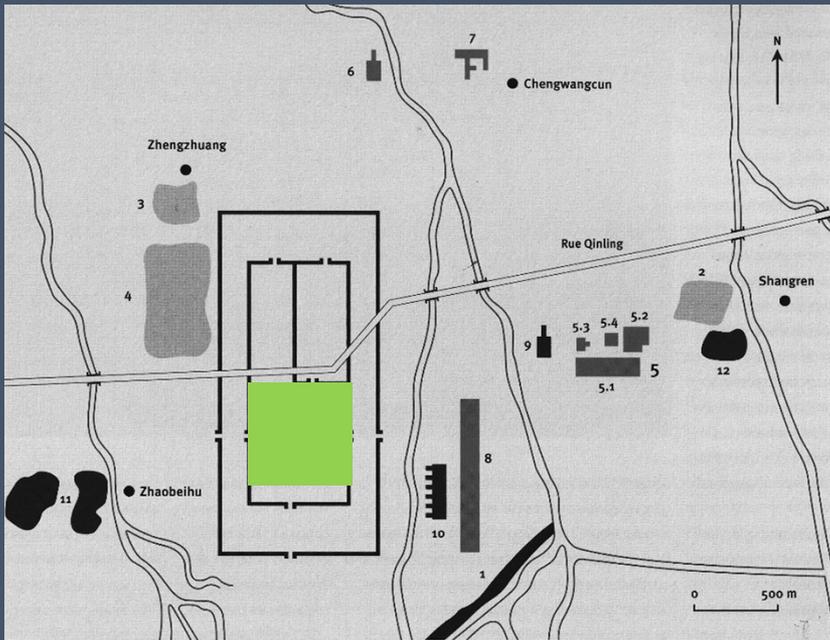

- Grandes murailles
- Capitale de Qin
- 魏 WEI 225 État et date de la conquête par Qin

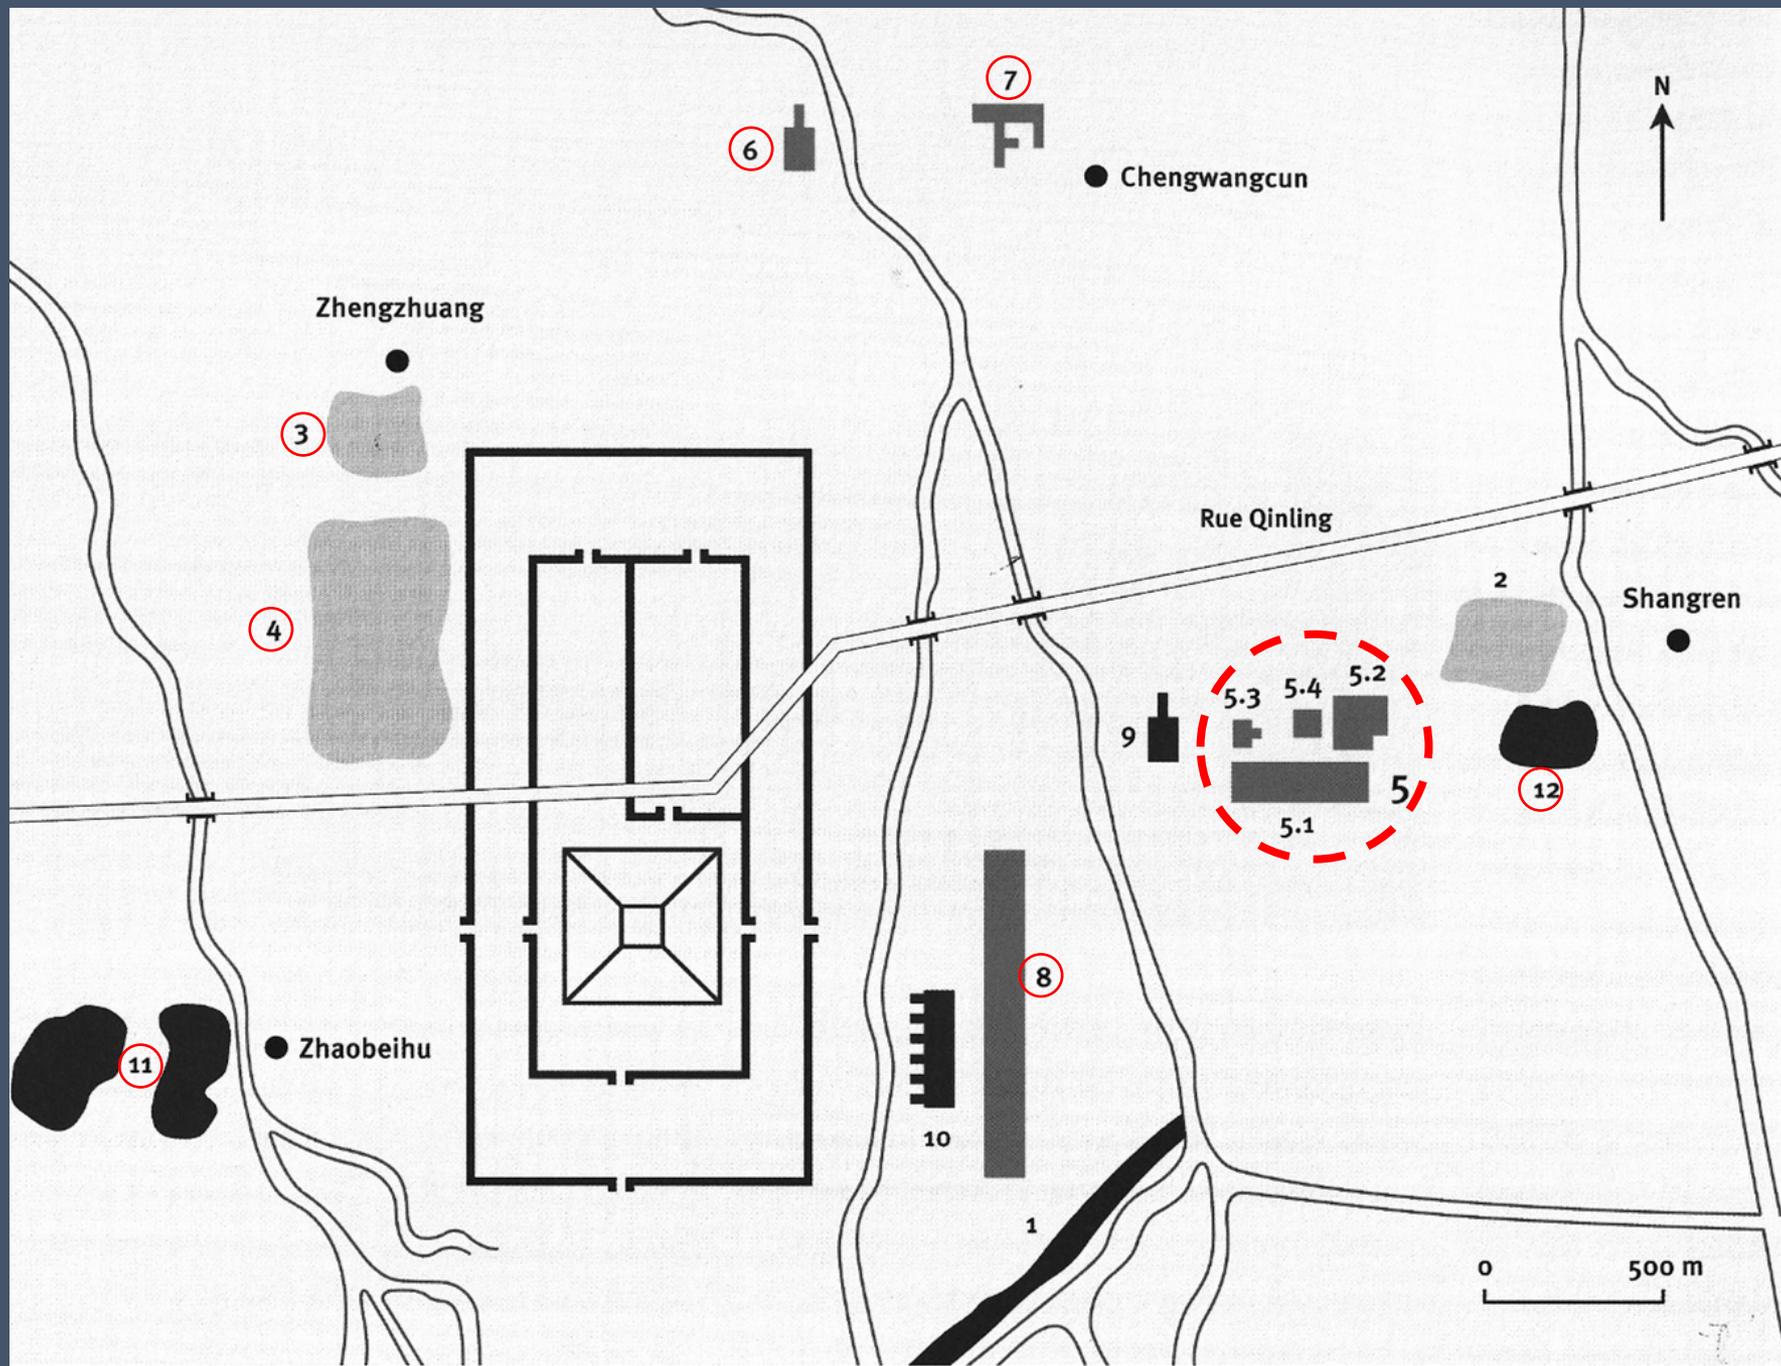

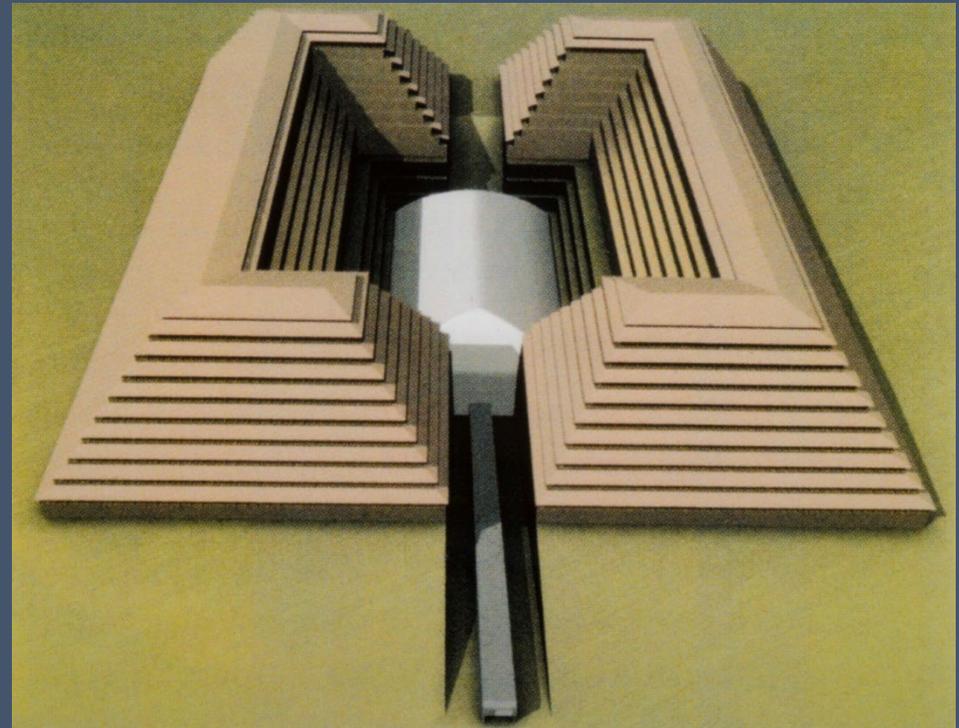

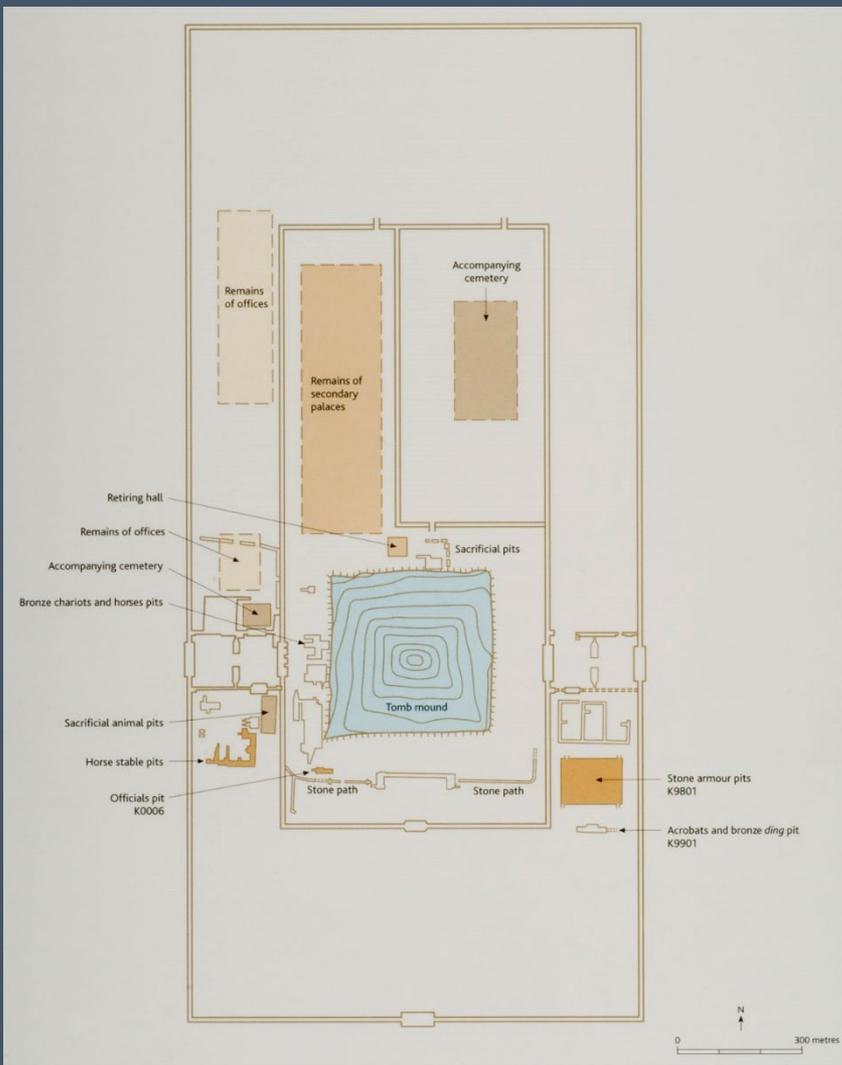

Le « Grand Historien » Sima Qian (env. 145-90 av. J.-C.)

Traduction d'Edouard Chavannes (1865-1918) : Shiji : Les Mémoires historiques de Se-ma Ts'ien, traduits et annotés par Édouard Chavannes (Ernest Leroux, 5 t. en 6 vol., 1895-1905)

Tombe du prince Jing de Qin, mort en 527 avant notre ère

Tombe du prince Yi de Zeng, mort en 433 avant notre ère (ou peu après 433), site de Leigudun, district de Suizhou (Hubei)

Le parc d'agrément du Premier Empereur

Le palais et ses
dépendances

L'armée du
Premier Empereur

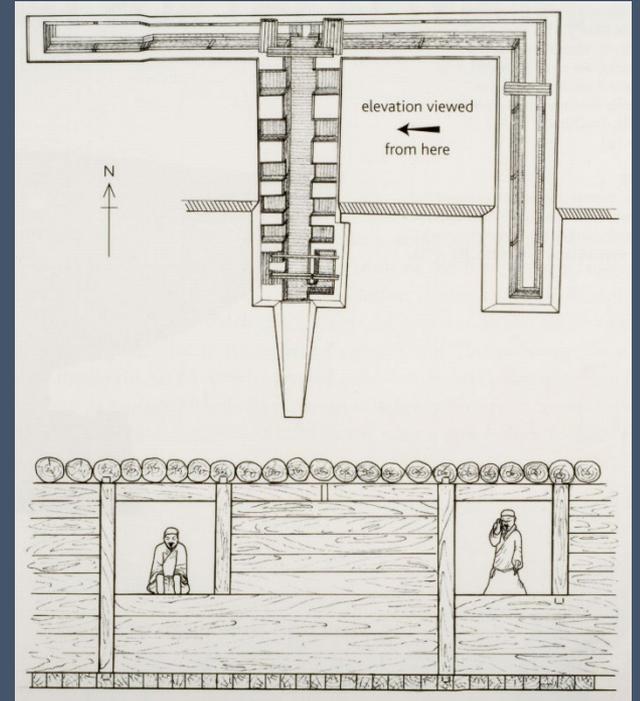

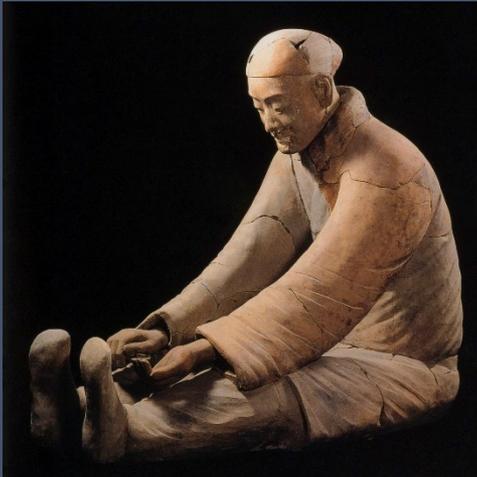

Les écuries du
Premier Empereur

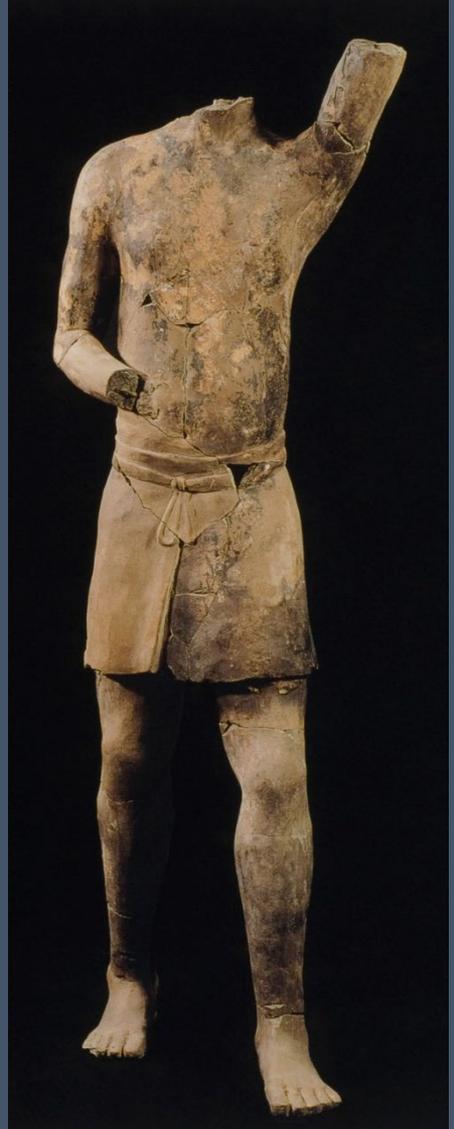

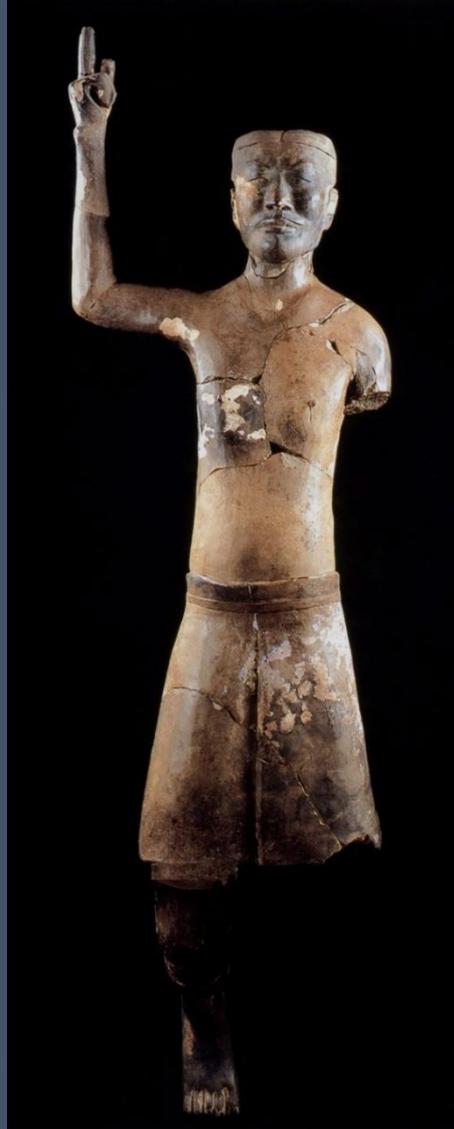

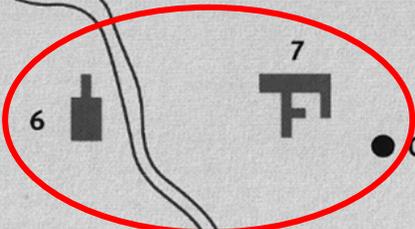

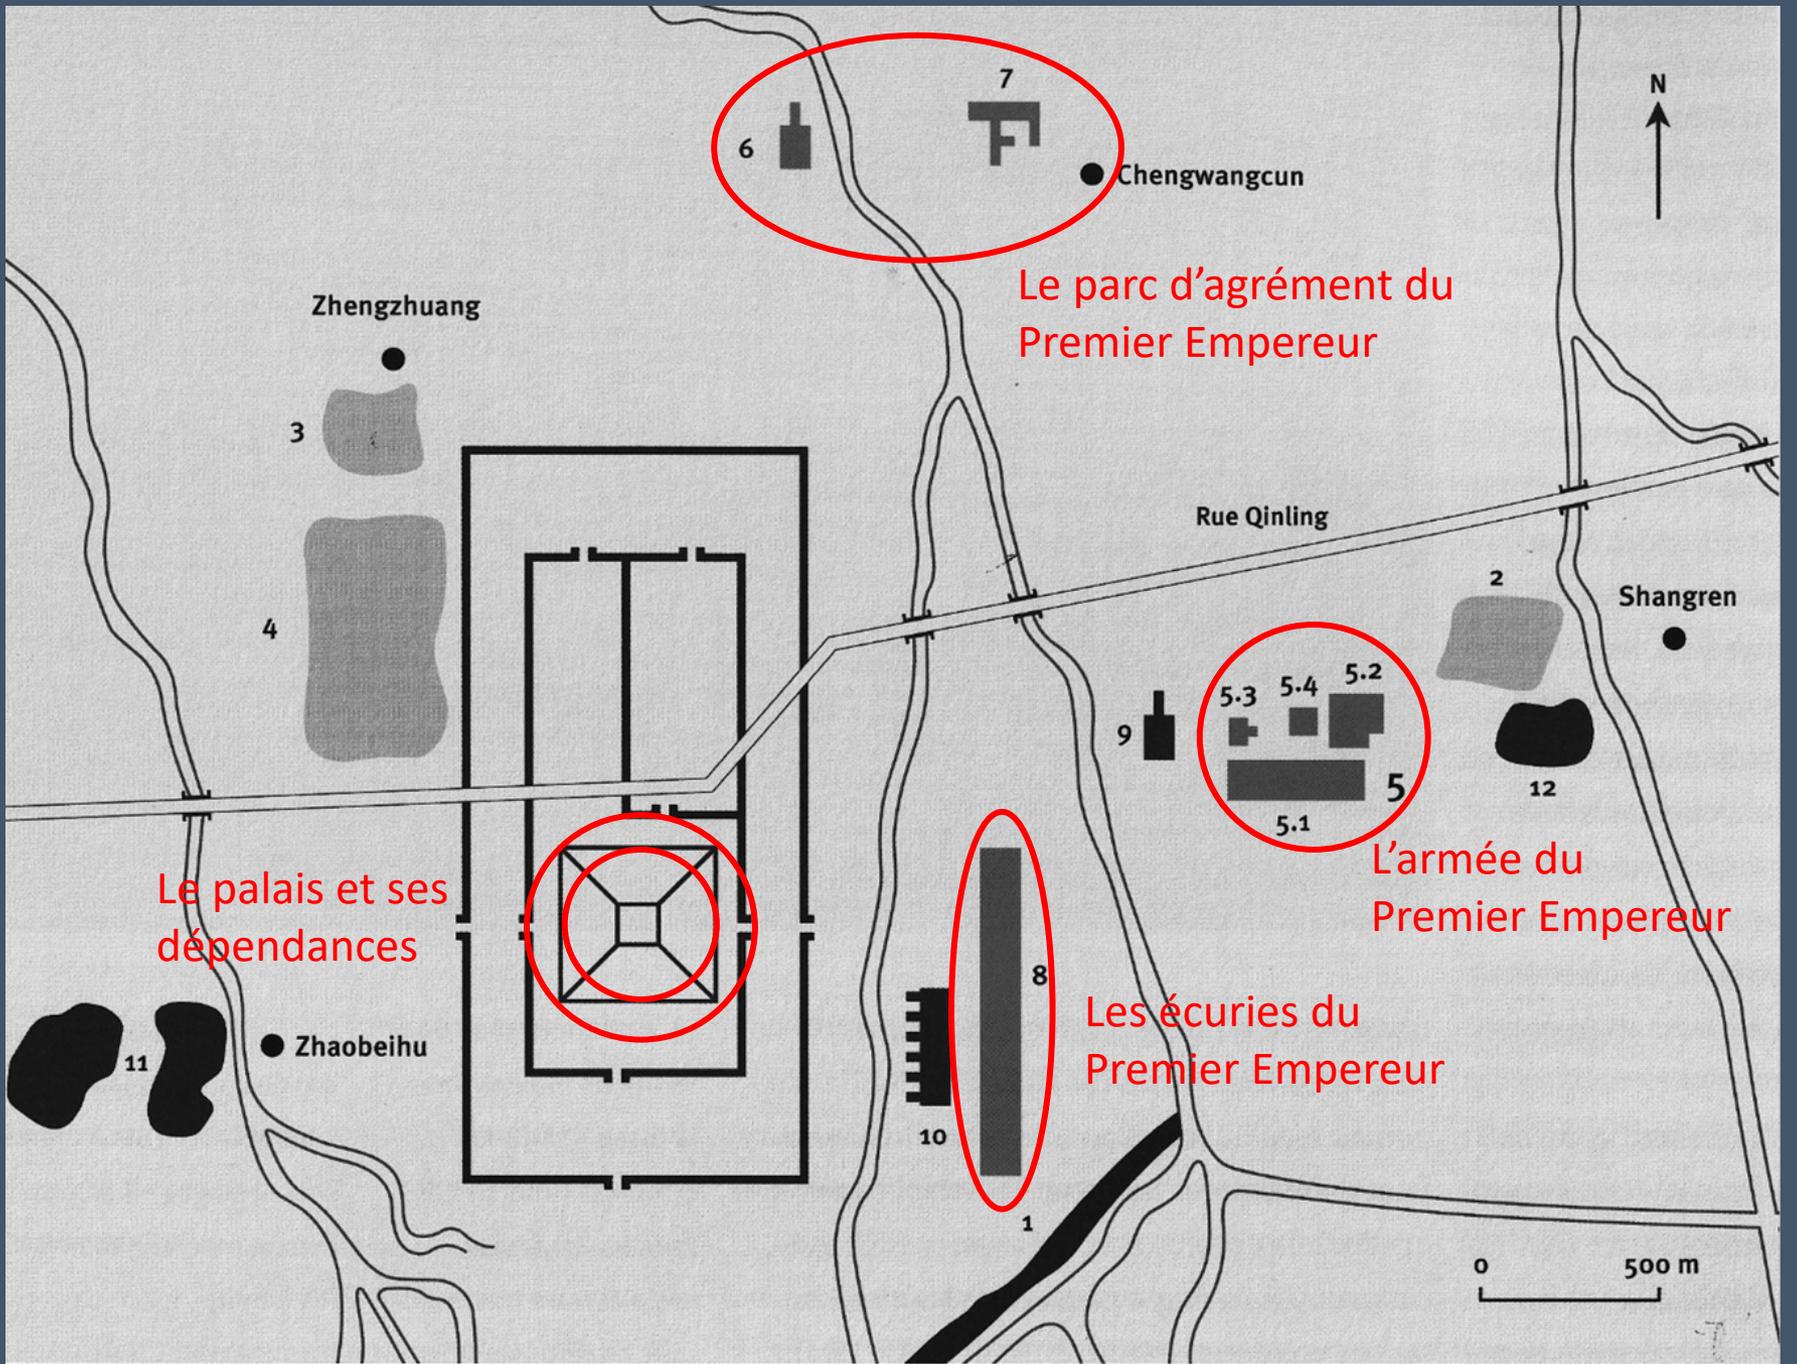

Armure constituée de plates découpées dans la pierre. H. 77 cm

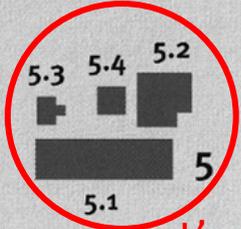

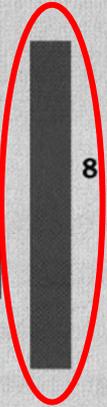

Le parc d'agrément du Premier Empereur

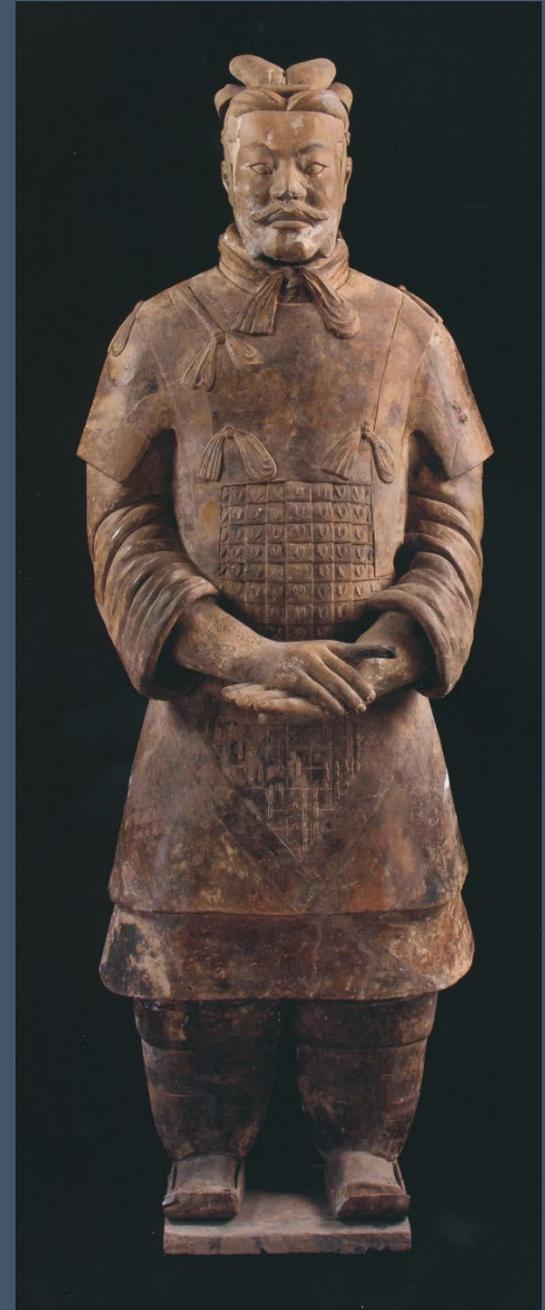

L'armée du Premier Empereur

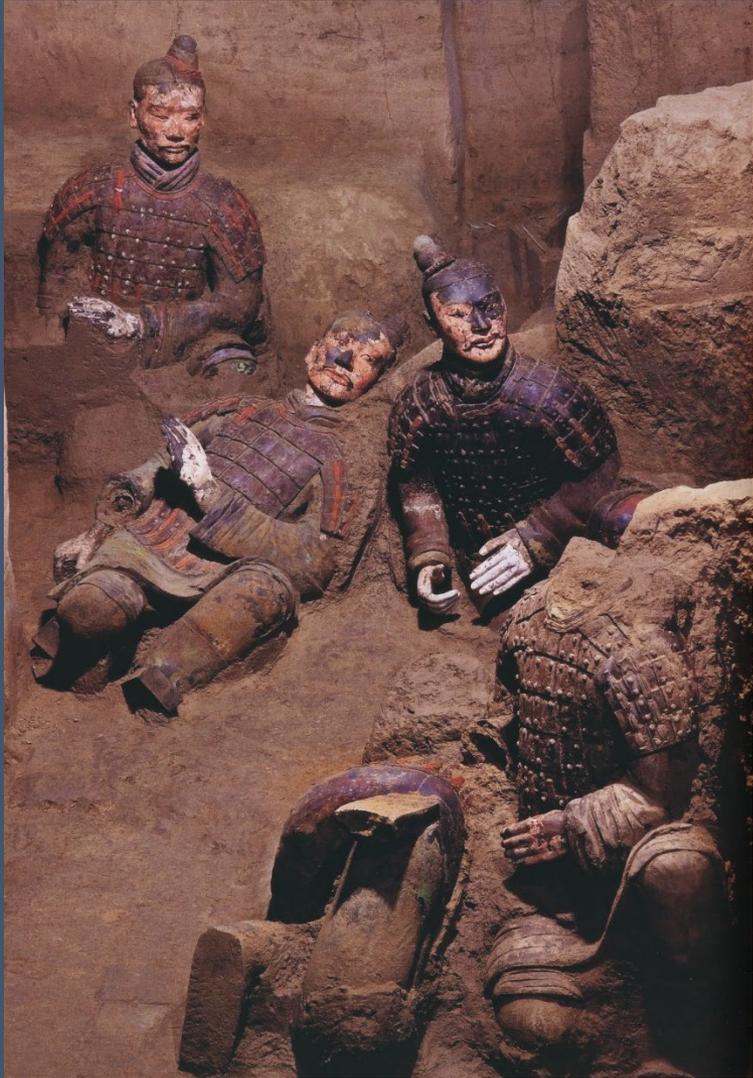

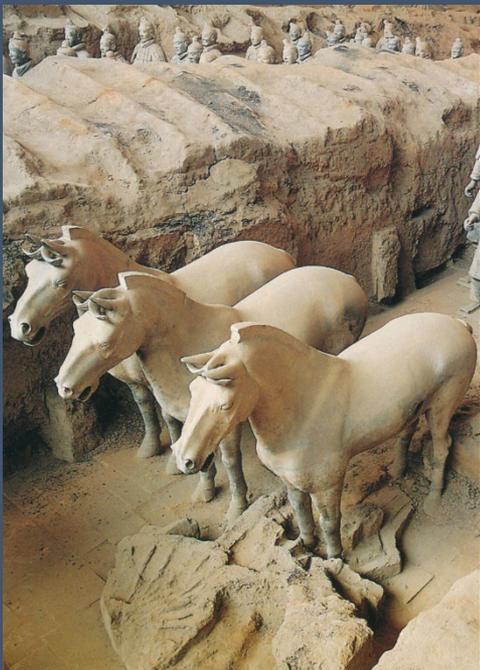

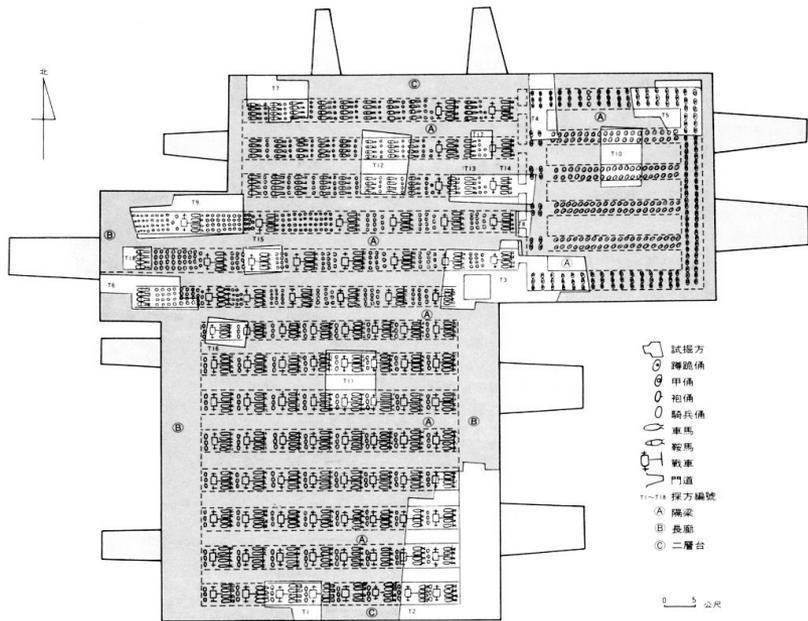

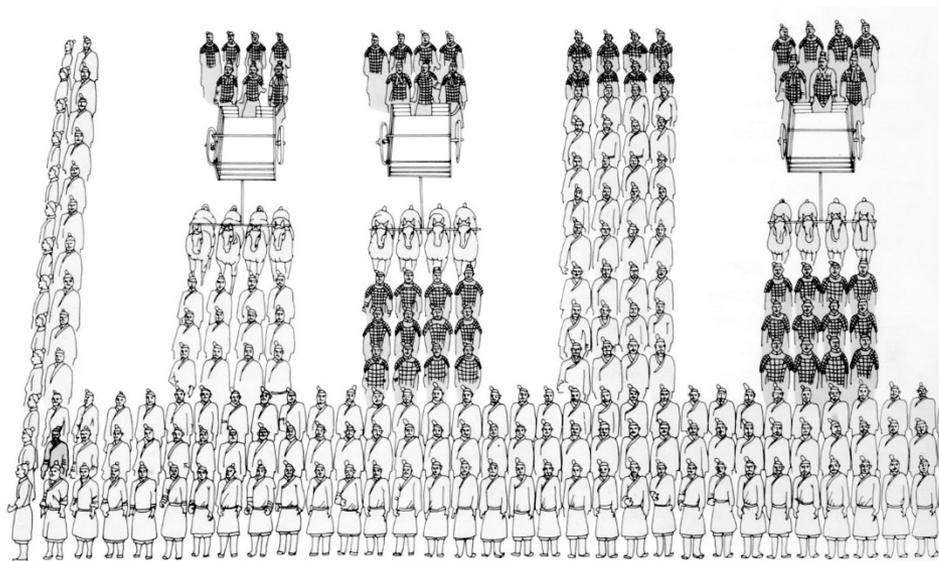

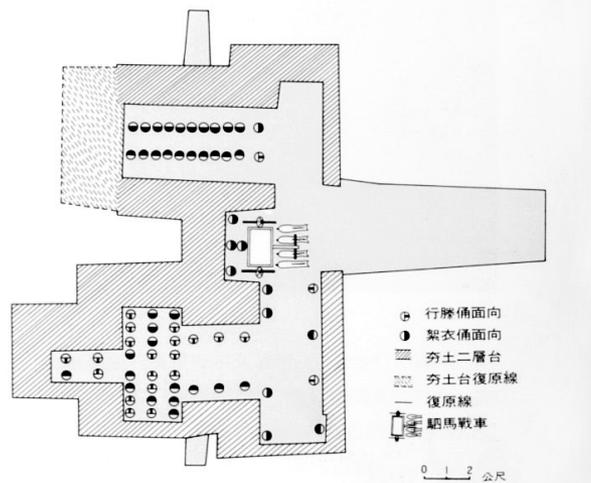

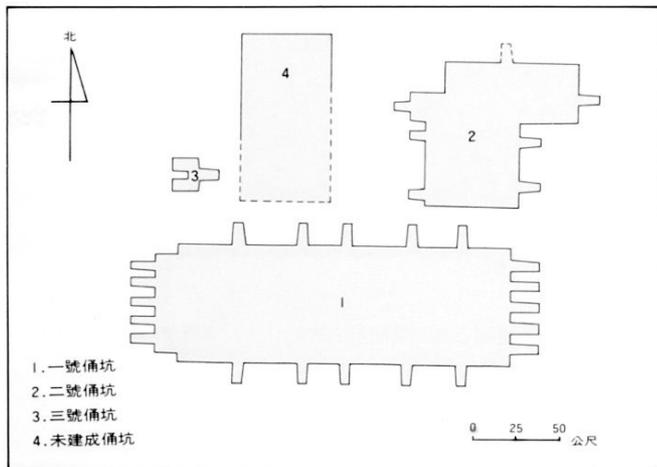

Les écuries du Premier Empereur

Le palais et ses dépendances

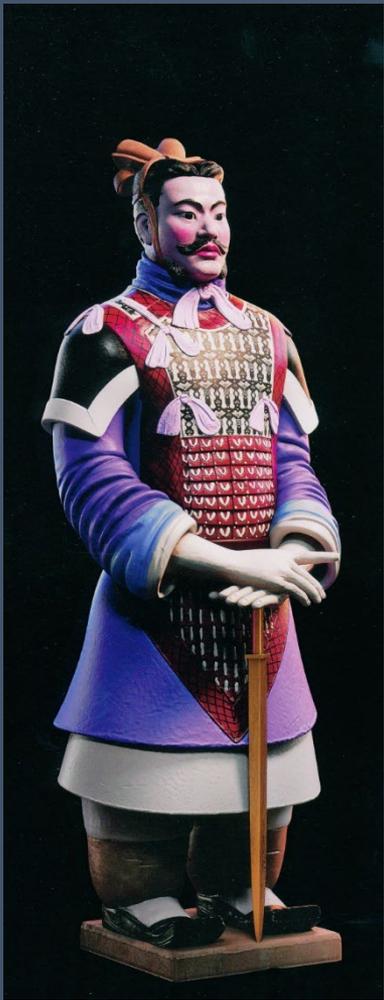

0 500 m

Grand officier de l'armée du Premier Empereur

Coiffures de différents guerriers
de l'armée du
Premier Empereur

Statuette en bois, vers
300 avant notre ère

Statuettes en terre cuite, IIe siècle avant
notre ère

